

NO STEP

On Snek

History of Snek

- In 1751, Benjamin Franklin first referenced the rattlesnake in the Pennsylvania Gazette.
- Great Britain has a policy of sending convicted criminals to America, so Franklin suggests sending rattlesnakes to Britain
- In 1754, Franklin published the first political cartoon featuring Snake
- The rattlesnake (along with the bald eagle) came to represent American ideals and society
 - Has no eyelids, therefore vigilant
 - “Never begins an attack, nor once engaged, ever surrenders”
- Symbol officially adopted by Continental Congress in 1778 for the official Seal of the War Office

- In 1775, the Continental Navy began with seven ships, that flew the “Liberty Tree Flag”
- These ships intercepted British ships carrying war supplies intended for the British, including 30,000 pairs of shoes. However the admiralty agent demanded 2.5 per cent commission before releasing the cargo, so Washington’s army marched barefoot in the snow
- The first Marines enlisted to aid this carried yellow-painted drums with the motto “Don’t tread on me”
- Continental Colonel Christopher Gadsden was one of seven of the Marine Committee outfitting this mission, who presented the flag to commander-in-chief of the Navy, Commodore Esek Hopkins to serve as the personal standard of his flagship
